Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from On the Advantages to Be Derived From the United Application of Wilson s Baylis s Patents for the Manufacture of Salt: From Sea-Water and Inland Brine Springs; With an Essay on the Value of Salt for Agricultural and Other Purposes, and Directions for the Use of the Same, by Permission of the Author, Cuthbert William Johnson, Esq. Barrister-at-Law, C Secondly, It is simple in its construction, and can be made in detached parts, and easily conveyed to such places where the erections are most desirable to be fixed, as being; either contiguous to the places of exportation, or where the carriage will be least expensive to the inland consumers. Thirdly, The materials used in the construction will not be subject to great deterioration by wear and tear; the annual repairs, consequently, will be very trifling, and the operation continuous, being wholly free from those stoppages to which all saline evaporating works are now subject. It will only require persons of ordinary capacity to attend to the operation and general management, and can be repaired and cleaned when necessary with great facility and convenience Fourthly, The invention combines a perfect application of Fuel, heated Air, Steam, and condensed Steam, without complicated or expensive machinery; the heat being equally applied to every portion of the evaporating surface, and the temperature regulated at pleasure. The fluid to be evaporated is always kept in a hot state and in constant motion, and the vapour is carried away without obstruction as soon as it escapes from the fluid.
